Our pride in our company and the proof of our commitment to excellence is exemplified by the fact that PCL is consistently ranked as a top builder and employer, and is an industry leader in quality, safety, and sustainability practices.

Our employee shareholders demand not only that we maintain the highest standards of excellence in the industry, but also that we behave as exemplary corporate citizens, acting at all times with uncompromising business integrity, minimizing our environmental impact, and contributing to the communities in which we live, work, and play.

PCL contributes millions of dollars and thousands of volunteer hours to humanitarian organizations, food banks, sustainability initiatives, educational organizations, healthcare facilities, community development drives, and sports and arts organizations.

We may have built some of the world’s most iconic structures, but our greatest reward comes from the opportunities we are given to help build hope for individuals and families within our communities.
STRENGTH FROM OUR ROOTS.

VISION FOR OUR FUTURE.
PCL is a company of over 100 years that remains strongly rooted in the legacy of Ernest E. Poole, a young carpenter who in 1903, at the age of 19, travelled west to Stoughton, Saskatchewan in search of a summer job. Little did he know that this journey would lead to his founding of a small prairie construction business in 1906 and the eventual building of Canada’s largest and most successful general contracting company, with operations from coast-to-coast, to the Arctic and into the United States, and beyond.

When passing the mantle on to his sons John and George in 1948, Ernest Poole penned a set of guiding principles that came to be known as ‘Poole’s Rules’ and that remain today the essence of our core values and company vision...

aspiring to be the most respected builder renowned for excellence, leadership and unsurpassed value.
